OUR BACKGROUND

Overview

Megatherm Group was founded by Mr. S B Chanda, a very renowned professional in Metal Heating & Melting Equipment Manufacturing Technology. Over the past 25 years, Megatherm Group has made its presence felt across steel, foundry, forging and power sectors serving over 5,500 organisations in 40+ countries across the globe with a turnover of nearly 100 million USD and a staff strength of 300+ Professionals.

In the long journey of 26 years of complex and mission critical manufacturing we have faced and overcome many pain areas relating to automation and software requirements. When we started our journey there were hardly any readymade IT solutions for engineering and manufacturing industries and after so many years the situation has not improved much. So we had to build our own roads as the journey progressed. This has given us the opportunity to learn and build. Today we can boast of having an industry knowledge which helps us to run our business in a state of the art environment.

MegathermITS was formed in the year 2014 as per our MD's vision to share our experience and knowledge across the industry and help other industries derive the benefit of our domain knowledge and experience. MegathermITS is the IT business part of Megatherm Group which deals in ERP implementation, software development and Systems Integration with special focus on manufacturing industry. Our goal is to help our customer achieve a robust IT infrastructure so that they can concentrate in their core business without having sleepless nights concerned about IT.

Currently we are a strong team of 60+ people catering the business software needs of our customers locally & globally.

Application Development & Maintenance:

To keep pace with the exponential growth of data, technology and changes in your business processes, it is critical to upgrade the IT systems of your enterprise. This is where MegathermITS comes in to play. We provide:

» ## Custom Application Development:

Organizations constantly need software that fulfils their specific needs. But in some business scenarios their particular problems cannot be solved with ready solutions in the market. Under these circumstances Megatherm ITS can build and timely deliver custom solutions adhering to client's unique specifications in an efficient and cost effective way

» ## Application Enhancement:

We help in analysing and implementing potential improvement to an existing application in terms of technology, infrastructure, business functionality, and operational efficiency. The end result for the client is an application with optimized cost of operation, enhanced business functionality, and increased effective lifespan.

» ## Application Integration:

MegathermITS helps in integrating different applications in an enterprise so that processes and data are shared seamlessly among disparate applications in order to leverage on application collaboration across the enterprise for improving overall business efficiency, enhance scalability, and reduce IT costs

» ## Application Maintenance & Support:

We provide application maintenance and support at varying levels to meet your exact needs. We manage applications built using a wide variety of technologies. Our services include pro-active monitoring, root-cause analysis, preventative maintenance, service continuity and continuous improvement in the stability and availability of applications

» ## Application QA & Testing:

Our application QA and testing services involve verification and validation of applications by understanding your end user scenarios and identifying the defects of different types - functional, logical, usability and performance.

» ## Application Migration:

Changing business conditions and needs require constant vigilance in adapting your information systems to keep pace. Migrating applications to newer technologies can give your business a leading edge while preserving your original business objectives, model, processes and functionalities. Your applications get a new lease on life at a reasonable cost

» Web Enablement:

Do you have a software system that meets your needs, but needs to work in a web browser? We call this Web Enablement and it makes your application more user friendly. By putting a web-wrapper around your existing application, so that users can access the system using a web browser, we can help your business to continue with your established software, combining cost savings with improved function.
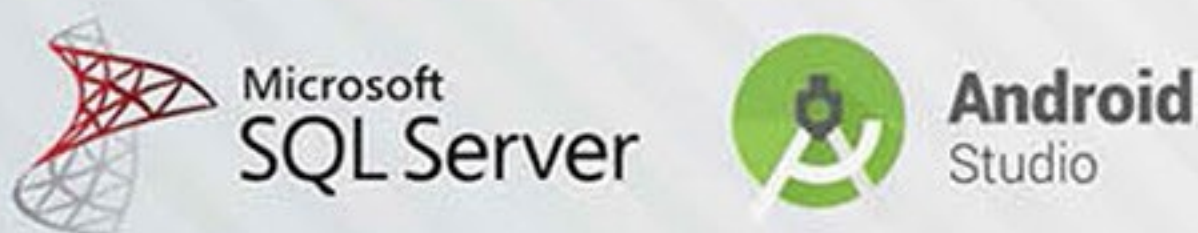

» Mobile App Enablement:

Sometimes organizations need to provide access to some or all parts of their enterprise applications to mobile devices. We can design apps that connects to the backend enterprise applications so that data is pushed from the app to the application or pulled from the application to the app

» Application Consulting:

We provide application consulting services in every aspect of your needs during Custom Application Development, Enhancement, Integration, Maintenance & Support, QA & Testing, Migration, and Web & App Enablement phases, so that you are rest assured that your application is both functionally and technically best optimized.
